I have been interested in starting a vegetable garden for some time now. I choose to start with tomatoes, because they are truly a superfood. I feel this is the future with all the corruption going on in this country with our food system. From pesticides to GMO's (tomatoes being one of the worst), to all sorts of diseases, young and old, it's getting very scary. My grandparents lived well into their 90's and I still feel it was because of the beautiful garden that they grew and ate from. They must of been onto something. Great guide!
