No real hacks and if you're already aware of technology there's nothing new there either, but for college graduates and young newlyweds this would be a great gift. I think my biggest complaint is that the author seems to have no idea of how to do things inexpensively. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Disappointed in general By DonnaKDunn It was not what I expected after watching her talk about her book on TV. I guess I thought it would have more helpful "tips/hints" not so much how to make things. To me it is more of a "craft" book. Disappointed in general. Wish I could return it. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Very fun read for a Saturday or Sunday afternoon while the ... By Everest Very fun read for a

Saturday or Sunday afternoon while the boys watch football. I love her ideas, her thoughts are explained well - great book for decorating, recipes, changing your habits... just an all around great idea book FULL of tons of helpful information. Love the layout and format as well! Glad I bought it after seeing her ideas on the Steve Harvey show.

From Silicon Valleys Martha Stewart comes a new manifesto for the modern homemaker in the digital age. Over the past three generations, the rules of homemaking and our very notions of what a homemaker is and does have radically changed. We are still a nation of makers, but we are crafting and creating beyond the home, in both the analog and digital worlds. And in the next ten years, making and homemaking will evolve further. Tomorrow's women will find themselves actually manufacturing everything from decor to clothing, from right inside their homes. In Homemakers, Brit Morin, founder of the wildly popular lifestyle brand and website Brit + Co., reimagines homemaking for the twenty-first century. While today's generation thrives in the virtual world, they like to work and create in the physical world. Morin inspires you to combine the best of analog and digital, to help you reconnect with your inner creative child—the one who used to love to draw, to build, and to play—to make your home a more creative, functional, and beautiful place. Full of captivating, colorful spreads, step-by-step DIYs, tips, and unique ideas, Homemakers explores a range of domestic skills room by room in a house, from cooking advice in the kitchen to health and beauty tips in the bathroom. Simple, beautiful, and stylish, it offers ideas for creative living to encourage and enable the digital generation to make.

From the Back Cover Reimagine homemaking for the twenty-first century The rules of homemaking have radically changed. Today's generation is digitally connected 24/7 and often more focused on climbing the career ladder at the office than the stepladder at home. But the home "maker" evolution has just begun. Thanks to advances in technology, tomorrow's men and women will find themselves using new gadgets and apps to cook, clean, decorate, and even manufacture everything from decor to clothing, from right inside their homes. In Homemakers, Brit Morin, founder of the wildly popular lifestyle brand, app, and website Brit + Co, reimagines homemaking for the twenty-first century, making it as simple as possible to go from amateur to pro with easy charts, tips, recipes, DIY projects, and tech shortcuts. Simple, beautiful, and stylish, it offers the digital generation a wealth of innovative ideas and how-tos for a more creative life. About the Author Brit Morin is the founder CEO of Brit + Co, an online platform that provides tools to teach, inspire, and enable creativity among women and girls. After jobs at both Google and Apple, she created Brit + Co to fuse her passion for DIY with her love of technology. When she's not DIY'ing, Brit can be found in far too many places around the Internet, on a hiking trail, or sipping a latte at her local coffee shop.
